A.M.M.O. Brief -APG Military Mission Orientation Brief (Regina Miller)

It is widely recognized that a knowledge gap exists among the APG workforce regarding what APG organizations do, how they support the DoD mission, and what synergies exist. The goal of the A.M.M.O. is to fill the knowledge gap through a comprehensive mission overview that guides current and new (target) employees through the lifecycle of systems from the identification of capabilities need to research and development to test and evaluation to fielding, sustainment and disposal.

EASE Environmental Awareness and Savings Enterprise (EASE) (Bob Devlin)

The Energy Policy Act of 2005 affects military installations by requiring a 30% reduction in energy by 2015, a reduced consumption of petroleum fuels by 2% per year, and a reduction in water usage by 16%. The team will develop a plan of action for APG to meet these goals, implement short-term solutions, and ensure buy-in from key APG tenants.
